

Roland's Electric, Inc. promotes Gallo as vice pres. and hires Buonasera

July 13, 2015 - Long Island

According to Roland's Electric, Inc, Justin Gallo has been promoted to vice president. They also welcomed new hire Joseph Buonasera as a senior project manager.

Gallo has been a staff member for over 14 years, and was formerly a senior project manager-estimator who has completed many projects of all scope and sizes. He will continue in his dual role as the company's safety director, developing and maintaining the company's safety training programs.

Buonasera brings 14 years of electrical project management experience to the job, having worked on a wide range of NYC construction projects.

Roland's Electric was founded in 1953, and is a full service electrical contractor for commercial, public works, healthcare, education, and other projects in Nassau and Suffolk Counties.
