New York, NY Hunt Mortgage Group has promoted Vic Clark to national head of conventional agency and commercial loan production. As senior managing director, he will now oversee production for the firm's conventional agency business and proprietary commercial loan products. Hunt Mortgage Group has four main business lines – the conventional agency loan business, an affordable housing business, a small balance loan business and a proprietary commercial and multifamily loan origination.

“Vic has vast expertise with 29 years of experience and extensive knowledge of the commercial real estate finance sector,” said Jim Flynn, president and chief investment officer at Hunt Mortgage Group. “During his tenure at Hunt Mortgage Group and throughout his lending production career, he has secured more than $9 billion in loan originations over 700 transactions. He also led his Dallas production team to achieve nationally recognized production volume making them a top production team in the firm for several years.”

Prior to his new role, Clark was a managing director based in Dallas and was hired originally in 2012 to build and lead a southwest team that focused on agency lending and assisting the company with developing alternative capital financing strategies. Before coming to Hunt Mortgage Group, he was with Walker & Dunlap in Dallas where he spent two years as a senior vice president, responsible for the central region.

Prior to Walker & Dunlap, he was a managing director and co-head of national production at Column Financial, Inc./Credit Suisse in Dallas. “Vic has an impressive track record and will help take our production team to new heights,” added Flynn. “He is considered a leading authority on multifamily financing and is frequently interviewed and quoted in the media and is often an invited guest speaker at key industry conferences. We couldn't be happier to make this announcement and look forward to Vic's continued contributions to the firm."
