

Orwaser named chief development officer at Breslin

June 20, 2017 - Front Section

Garden City, NY According to Wilbur Breslin, CEO of Breslin Realty Development Corp., David Orwaser has re-joined Breslin as its new chief development officer.

Early in his career Orwaser first served as associate counsel and director of leasing and brokerage at Breslin. Over the last 20 years, Orwaser has been developing properties and growing consumer facing brands for national and regional companies in a range of senior management capacities. Notably, his experience includes taking 2 companies public; Cosi & The Joint...the chiropractic place, where he served as chief development office and chief operating officer and president, respectively, as well as having served as VP of development & asset management for Starbucks Coffee.

While at Starbucks, Orwaser helped lead the introduction of Starbucks across the Eastern U.S. during its formative growth period and opened over 1000 stores in 17 new markets, including NYC. Orwaser has additionally served as EVP of Medifast.

He is a licensed attorney admitted in the states of New York and Connecticut, holds his JD from Pace University and his BA from Vassar College.

“David will be responsible for helping to support and continue the growth of the company’s portfolio. We welcome David to our executive team and we look forward to leveraging his considerable management, tenant, development and growth based knowledge and relationships to continue to advance the Breslin brand,” said Breslin.

New York Real Estate Journal - 17 Accord Park Drive #207, Norwell MA 02061 - (781) 878-4540