Boma Long Island holds presentation - January 22nd

March 06, 2018 - Long Island

Melville, NY BOMA Long Island kicked off their 2018 presentations, on January 22nd, to find out how much PSEG was offering their customers in rebates this upcoming year. Last year was a successful year for Long Island, as far as reducing KW and incentives given to landlords across Long Island. Thanks to all that participated and helping put this together.

Part I. "Incentives for companies moving to Long Island, how potential tenants could be eligible for utility discounts and economic development programs." Given by PSEG Long Island: Swapnil Gore, CEM, DGCP engineer; John Keating manager economic development; and Mike Brown, major account executive.

Part II: "2018 PSEG Rebate Offering." Given by: Maureen McDonald, energy consultant and Alex Valentino - outreach manager, PSEG Long Island

Part III: "Latest Technology of LED Fixtures & Lamps that qualify for the 2018 Rebate Program." Given by: Angela Perrone, Philips Lighting representative and Eric Pucci, energy solutions specialist, Turtle & Hughes.
