Manhattan, NY George Smith Partners has established a bi-coastal presence with the opening of an office in Midtown. Industry veteran Ed Steffelin has joined the firm as senior VP on the Malcolm Davies team, and will oversee the new office, which is located at 750 Lexington Ave.

“While we are already recognized nationally, establishing George Smith Partners as a true bi-coastal entity will deliver increased access to capital and a greater capacity to serve clients throughout the nation,” said Malcolm Davies, partner and managing director at George Smith Partners. “This move is the natural next step in our continued growth through which we continue to add industry-leading, well-respected professionals like Ed to our team.”
