

WSP Flack + Kurtz new name change

September 29, 2008 - Spotlights

WSP Flack + Kurtz is the new name, effective August 1, of the premier global mechanical and electrical engineering firm, formerly known as Flack + Kurtz, Inc. "Our name change reflects our being fully integrated into this fantastic global company," said David Cooper, P.E., LEED AP, president and chief executive officer of WSP Flack + Kurtz.

WSP globally has more than 10,000 employees operating out of 250 offices spanning 35 countries, including 700 staff in the Middle East.

In addition to the traditional MEP engineering disciplines WSP Flack + Kurtz offers architectural lighting, telecommunications, electronic security, and audio-visual design services, along with code/fire engineering consulting, LEED consulting, and full system commissioning.
