

Gulas appointed to director of design and construction at conceptcsi

February 13, 2012 - Design / Build

According to conceptcsi, one of the data center industries most respected construction management organizations, Michael Gulas has been appointed to director of design and construction.

"Bringing Michael on board has been a strategic move in the making for some time and serves as a statement of intent as we continue to expand our brand and establish our presence as the pre-eminent design/build construction organization in the industry" said Seán Mulleady, conceptcsi's CEO.

In his role, Gulas will lead the organization's global design and construction initiatives and contribute heavily to its ambitious expansion plans. Highly regarded throughout the industry as a thought leader, Gulas is often sought after to provide expertise and input on innovative designs and troubleshooting in live, complex data center environments. Over the years he has nurtured excellent relationships with major vendors and specialty contracting companies. These relationships will be leveraged to benefit conceptcsi's customer requirements for fast-track procurement, fabrication and delivery.
