What do you do now and what are you planning for the future? FXFOWLE is an architectural, planning and interior design firm committed to design excellence, social responsibility and sustainability with offices in New York and Washington, D.C. I am currently working on a multi-modal transit station, and the master planning for 120 acres around it, in downtown Atlanta, Ga.

Hobbies: I'm an architect with a two year old son. That doesn't leave much time for hobbies. My son recently said to me: "Daddy, I like to play Legos with you." That's my new hobby. Or my oldest one, since I never really outgrew it.

Favorite movies: "Roman Holiday," "Casablanca"

Keys to success: I'll let you know when I get there.

If you had to choose another vocation what would it be? Professional chef
