

Syracuse University College of Law breaks ground on 200,000 s/f project; designed by Gluckman of Gluckman Mayner

May 21, 2012 - Upstate New York

According to Syracuse University College of Law has recently broken ground for its 200,000 s/f, five-story project, Dineen Hall. The building is located on the western side of the campus near current College of Law buildings and the Carrier Dome.

The $90 million project was partially funded by a $15 million donation from two College of Law alumni.

The building is set to open in 2014, and will feature a central atrium, library, 330-seat courtroom auditorium, and a green roof.

Richard Gluckman of Gluckman Mayner was the lead architect.
