

TF Cornerstone expands relationship with ClickPay

December 11, 2012 - Design / Build

According to ClickPay Services, Inc., a leading provider of electronic payment solutions for the multi-housing industry, TF Cornerstone Inc. (TFC) has agreed to expand its use of ClickPayRent â€” a service that allows tenants to make secure payments online and through mobile phones and tablets.

In accordance with the provision of services for 8 million s/f of residential buildings, office spaces and retail locations, TFC will institute ClickPayRent at additional residential buildings throughout the city, and will now offer the service at its commercial properties.

Additionally, ClickPay Services has launched a platform to simplify the process of lease application and payment by enabling TFC to accept lease application fees from potential residents via e-check, credit and debit card.

"TF Cornerstone Inc. is leading the way in terms of leveraging technology to make their business more efficient and to add convenience and value to their tenants," ClickPay President Tom Kiernan said. "We are thrilled that they are expanding their use of ClickPay based on the positive results we have seen over the past year."

TF Cornerstone, which is the managing agent of many of its properties in well-known neighborhoods such as Murray Hill, the Upper East Side, the West Village, Chelsea, the Financial District, Long Island City and Midtown West, benefits from ClickPay Services' best-in-class level of security. Compliant with PCI (Payment Card Industry) security standards, ClickPay provides clients with bank-grade security to ensure the protection of their business and their tenants' data.

"The relationship between tenant and landlord requires a tremendous level of trust on both sides," ClickPay CEO Steven Van Praagh said. "At ClickPay, we build trust between residents and landlords by providing an added level of security as well as unmatched customer service, and our software adds an enhanced level of convenience."
