

Tempco Glass Fabrication offers delivery service

September 09, 2013 - Design / Build

The New York area's new provider of tempering and glass fabrication services to glaziers and glass shops has added an important new service. Besides tempering, cutting, drilling and edge polishing, Tempco now offers delivery service to trade customer locations or job sites.

The service is already up and running, utilizing Tempco's new glass delivery truck. The delivery service covers all glass products. Initially the delivery area includes Queens, Brooklyn, The Bronx, Manhattan and Nassau County. Plans to expand the service soon to the entire metro area are in development.

Most deliveries, when part of a regularly scheduled route, come at a very reasonable nominal charge. Deliveries to Manhattan locations, job sites or those requiring specifically scheduled times are subject to additional fees.

"A glass fabricator that delivers to trade customers, especially to the smaller glass shops, is quite rare in this area," said Steven Powell, general manager for Tempco Glass Fabrication. "We launched Tempco earlier this year with the intention of providing important, quality services for trade customers that the large national glass fabricators don't offer. Delivery is just one of the services that will make us the glass fabricator of choice."

Tempco Glass Fabrication, based in Flushing, NY, provides quality glass tempering and other high-end services to New York Metro Area trade customers. Tempco utilizes new, modern, state-of-the-art fabrication equipment and techniques. The company prides itself on providing exemplary service, extremely fast turnaround, and value pricing.
