

Consolo and Aquino of Douglas Elliman's Retail Group retained to market 114 East 57th Street

March 23, 2015 - New York City

The national leasing and sales team of Faith Hope Consolo, chairman and Joseph Aquino, executive vice president of Douglas Elliman's Retail Group have been named exclusive agents for 114 East 57th St., a 3,250 s/f ground level space with basement and 35 ft. of frontage on one of the area's most luxurious blocks, between Park and Lexington Aves.

"East 57th St. is where vaunted brands shine even brighter," said Consolo. "We have arranged countless leases on this street by focusing on businesses that bring something distinctive to this exclusive shopping district."

Aquino said, "This is a street of dreams where exciting new names often open next door to venerable retailers. It's a high-priced proposition, but for the right brand, it is a game-changer. It is also where New York's tallest residential building, 432 Park Ave., is located and the fabulous Four Seasons Hotel."

Presently the Manhattan location of antiques dealer and art gallery Leo Kaplan Ltd., the store is surrounded by such high-profile neighbors as Audemars Piguet, Brioni and Jacob & Co., as well as two additions recently arranged by Consolo and Aquino, comprising Oro Gold and Jacques Torres.
