Silverline, a significant player in the technology industry, has recently taken up residence in Union Square. Silverline is a cloud solutions firm delivering robust Salesforce implementations. Designed by Ladow and Ladow Architects, Silverline's new 10,000 s/f office occupies a full floor at 860 Broadway. Led by Marc Ladow, AIA NCARB, and Robin Ladow Levitin, AIA LEED AP, principals of Ladow and Ladow Architects, the project boasts sculptural walls and millwork in combinations of bright colors and corrugated metal surfaces. These become a backdrop for open meeting areas, private offices, small collaboration rooms, conference rooms, and workstations, as well as an open lounge complete with custom upholstered seating, ping pong table, game tables, projection television, and a caf   with zinc clad counter tops and soffits.
