New York, NY Shimon Shkury, president and founder of Ariel Property Advisors, has been awarded City & State's Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) Award in Real Estate & Construction.

Shkury and his fellow honorees were presented with the award on May 31 at a special breakfast ceremony at New York Law School. The event, which attracted over 200 attendees, featured a panel of some of the city's most influential industry leaders. Shkury was selected following a public nomination process via City & State's website.

City & State is a multi-media news organization dedicated to coverage of New York's federal, state, and local government, political and advocacy news.

"We're pleased to award Shimon Shkury a CSR award for sharing the success of Ariel Property Advisors with many community organizations," said Tom Allon, president of City & State NY.

City & State CSR awards showcase outstanding accomplishments of leading New York corporations and executives who successfully promote one or more of the core principles of corporate social responsibility: charity, diversity, environment & sustainability, equity, ethics, privacy, sourcing, transparency, volunteerism and community engagement.

Executive vice president at Ariel Property Advisors, Ivan Petrovic, accepted the award on Shkury's behalf as he was unable to attend due to the Jewish holiday.
