

LIREG to hold breakfast event on November 6th

November 06, 2018 - Long Island

Old Westbury, NY The Long Island Real Estate Group (LIREG) will host a breakfast event at the Old Westbury Country Club on November 6 featuring a look at the current status of the proposed Heartland Town Sq. “smart growth” development in Edgewood.

The headlined speaker will be David Wolkoff, principal at Heartland Business Center, the privately owned real estate company that is working to transform the former Pilgrim State Hospital property into the mixed-use Heartland development. As proposed, the development of Heartland Town Sq. will include 9,000 housing units, a million s/f “lifestyle” center, 3 million s/f of class A office space, a hotel and convention center, indoor and outdoor civic space and an aquarium.

In addition to discussing the challenges facing the immense development, Wolkoff will speak about his company and other major projects he is focusing on, including 5 Pointz Towers, a 1.3-million s/f development in Long Island City, Queens.

“Heartland is a development with the potential to change the face of Long Island,” said event moderator Alison Brennan, executive vice president at First Development Corporation and vice president of LIREG’s executive board. “Its goal is to serve as a template for more dense, walkable communities that can combat Long Island’s ‘brain drain’ by keeping our highly educated young people from moving out of the area.”

LIREG executive board member Scott Burman, president of Engel Burman Construction and principal of the Engel Burman Group, anticipates a strong turnout on November 6. “Given the headlines and reaction – on both sides – that this project has generated, we expect a great deal of interest in this event,” he said.

The event, scheduled for 8 AM to 10 AM, is free for LIREG Members and $60 for non-LIREG members. For more information, send email to info@lireg.org.
