Rodney Nassimi, CPA,
Janover LLC

Great Neck, NY According to Janover LLC, senior manager Rodney Nassimi, CPA, has been selected to the NYSSCPA Leadership Institute for 2019. This exclusive group of leaders is limited to 20 up-and-comers from across New York State and are selected by the NYSSCPA executive committee. Nassimi is part of the inaugural group for the Institute.

Nassimi is a rising star at the firm and a seasoned CPA, with over twelve years of public accounting experience. He works primarily in the assurance and attest areas for nonprofit, employee benefit plans, and privately held businesses across multiple industries, including marketing, construction, and film distributors. At Janover, he is a member of the assurance team. Nassimi is active at the NYSSCPA and is a member of its entertainment, arts and sports committee and the employee benefits committee.

The NYSSCPA developed the Leadership Institute, which is a six-month program, to engage and provide opportunities to members in the early stages of their career. The objective of the Leadership Institute is to enable participants to increase their effectiveness in the workplace, capture important insights and tools for strategic career planning, and to ultimately transform into effective leaders and transition to leaders in the society, the profession, and their respective communities.

For more than 80 years, Janover has earned the reputation as trusted advisors to their domestic and international clients. A full-service accounting, tax and advisory firm, Janover's primary focus has been meeting and exceeding their client's expectations. Founded in 1938, Janover has grown to be a Top 200 firm and is ranked as one of the top Mid-Atlantic accounting firms by Accounting Today. Janover has industry and specialty practice teams who deliver specialized services, including data analytic services, to clients in real estate, construction, manufacturing, wholesale and distribution, retail, professional services, entertainment and financial services.

Janover provides related professional services through two affiliates: JRF Asset Advisors LLC, which provides financial planning and investment management services to corporate and individual entities; and, JRS Financial Services LLC, which provides contracted financial management services to emerging firms and financial service organizations.

Janover is a member of INAA, an international association of independent accounting & advisory firms whose prime purpose is to serve businesses with cross-border accounting and tax issues.

The NYSSCPA is one of the largest state accounting organizations in the nation with 26,000 members. It has 15 chapters that provide programs and activities to members on a local basis.

It also sponsors a comprehensive structure of 60 technical and administrative committees, on which more than 1,500 members currently serve. The committees serve members by recognizing and responding to their technical and professional needs and creating a forum for interacting with their peers.
