

Siegelman to co-chair Ruskin Moscou Faltischek real estate department; to succeed position held by partner Weinstock

September 03, 2019 - Long Island

Jerry Siegelman,
Ruskin Moscou Faltischek

Uniondale, NY According to Ruskin Moscou Faltischek P.C., Jerry Siegelman, a partner at the firm and a member of the real estate department, will take on the role of co-chair of the firm's real estate department, working alongside partner and co-chair Eric Rubenstein. Siegelman will succeed partner Ben Weinstock, long-time co-chair of the real estate department, who will be stepping down from his role as co-chair to focus more of his time on servicing the firm's large roster of clients.

"It is with great pleasure that we recognize the outstanding performance of our colleague, Jerry Siegelman, who has been a member of the real estate department, one of our firm's cornerstone departments, since joining the firm in 2015," said Adam Silvers, managing partner, Ruskin Moscou Faltischek. "Jerry is a highly skilled and respected attorney in the real estate industry and an exceptional, dedicated partner at the firm. We are confident that Jerry's new role as co-chair will be a successful one."

Siegelman's practice at Ruskin Moscou Faltischek concentrates on commercial real estate transactions, including acquisitions, dispositions, portfolio transactions, financing, leasing and development with an emphasis on shopping center properties. He routinely counsels clients in the development of retail and mixed-use projects and has handled complex financing for borrowers, including mezzanine and securitized loans.

Ruskin Moscou Faltischek's real estate department is comprised of skilled and accomplished attorneys who guide clients in all facets of commercial and multifamily residential real estate and development – from shepherding financing transactions, leasing, acquisitions and sales to navigating complex land use and zoning matters. The department has a knowledge of IDA financing of commercial properties as well as the development and leasing of retail centers.

He received his bachelor of arts degree from Queens College in 1982 and earned his Juris Doctorate from Boston University School of Law in 1985. He received a master of Public Administration degree from Baruch College in 1995. He presently serves as a board member of the Gold Coast Arts Center, is a member of the zoning board of appeals for the village of Great Neck

Estates and is a former adjunct professor at Hunter College.
