

Barton joins Greystone as CIO of commercial platform

March 24, 2020 - Front Section

New York, NY According to Greystone, Quinn Barton has joined as chief investment officer (CIO) of the firm's commercial platform.

In the newly created position as CIO of commercial, Barton will oversee capital markets activities and capital deployment strategies for Greystone's commercial division. He will serve an integral role in designing the overall blueprint for Greystone's expanding CRE finance and investment activities.

Barton joins Greystone from Carmel Partners, where he led that firm's origination of debt investments, including b-pieces and distressed multifamily mortgages. Prior to Carmel Partners, Barton was head of CMBS trading at Banc of America Securities, led B-Note and Mezzanine loan trading at Natixis, and also held senior CMBS trading roles at RBS Greenwich Capital Markets and JPMorgan Chase Securities.

"Ultimately, we want to build out Greystone's capabilities as a leading capital provider and partner for investors and borrowers alike in the broader commercial mortgage sector," said Mr. Scott Chisholm, head of Commercial. "Quinn's long track record in CMBS and private equity will enable us to formulate an actionable strategy for our commercial business. His capital markets expertise and relationships will elevate the incredible production power the entire Greystone team has exhibited to date."
