

Crystal Windows named a top NYC-area minority-owned firm

June 01, 2021 - Owners Developers & Managers

Queens, NY The recognition of national award-winning manufacturer Crystal Window & Door Systems continues as the company has again been included in the top business ranking of NYC-area minority-owned firms. Crain's New York Business ranked Crystal Windows 9th on its list of the New York area's largest minority-owned companies. Crystal Windows has been included in the Crain's list for the past 23 years, since 1998. This year's ranking represents Crystal's highest achievement to date with the list.

"I'm extremely proud that Crystal's ongoing success continues to be recognized by Crain's," said Steve Chen, Crystal's president.

"With 20 million diverse people and tens of thousands of minority-owned companies in the New York metro area, this makes the recognition even more significant. It's all been made possible by our dedicated employees, our great fenestration trade customers, and the appeal of our energy efficient made-in-America window products."

The Crain's list is comprised of the largest privately held firms that are at least 51% minority-owned and headquartered in NYC or in seven surrounding NY and NJ counties. The ranking is based on annual company revenues from the prior year. The list, while no longer annual, is compiled and published every few years. Others on the 2021 list include Goya Foods, Sigma Plastics, and Bartlett Dairy.

In prior years, Crystal Windows and both its Chairman Thomas Chen and President Steve Chen have been featured or included in the magazine's articles, recognitions, and TV show. Most notably, Steve Chen was recognized in the past as a Crain's Top 40 Under 40 Young Business Executive. Crystal was also the recipient a few years ago of the Crain's Top Family Business Award.
