Queens, NY Architecture and design firm JG Neukomm Architecture has designed two new model residences at Tangram House South – a residential condominium located within F&T Group’s Tangram mixed-use development in Flushing.

The three-bedroom model residences give prospective buyers the opportunity to experience Asian architecture and philosophy that is aesthetically rooted in creating a contemporary and elegant retreat. The two model residences, units 10R and 10Q, are defined by clean, refined lines that maximize space and light — where attention to every detail welcomes you into a calming energy.

Furnishings include Italian cabinetry from Doimo, Italian stone countertops and backsplash, and customized faucets and stainless-steel sinks. Italian stone vanity tops, custom-designed medicine cabinets, and carefully selected accessories. Master bathrooms feature separate glass enclosed walk-in showers, Kaldewei tubs, and Toto washlet toilets and double vanities.

The new model homes showcase the property's spaciousness and reflection, with well-crafted elements that bring the natural in and set an unprecedented standard for living in Flushing, and beyond.
