Why should women consider a career in commercial real estate and related services?

The world of CRE is diverse. Ask yourself: are you curious? Do other people's work and supporting spaces interest you? Are you a natural problem solver who enjoys constant change? If you answered 'yes', then CRE just might be the industry you! There are no dull moments, straight paths, or single options in this competitive field. I am both an interior architect and owner's advisor for capital projects. I love understanding how people perform their work and proving solutions that push for higher functioning spaces through new tech, sustainable efforts, and incorporating DEI initiatives. Throughout my career I've had the pleasure of meeting many different interesting people which keeps my curiosity satisfied.
