

2022 Year in Review: Ramya Jangamakote, Mojo Stumer Associates

December 27, 2022 - Spotlights

Ramya Jangamakote
Project Architect

What was your greatest professional accomplishment or most notable project, deal, or transaction in 2022?

My most notable project this year is the new Village Hall in Great Neck. This project is focused on understanding the functionality of the spaces along with making sure the occupants and visitors can connect with great neck's rich neighborhood history and diversity. The project will be breaking ground early 2023. This project allowed me to coordinate with various players of the project along with the Village itself.

How has your career path changed in 2022?

My career has really gone up the curve from being brought in as a project architect to being recently promoted to be a project manager. This year was indeed very challenging with the kind of projects that were assigned to me which were a mix of commercial, residential and healthcare related projects.
