John Perrotta

Brant Reiner

Melville, NY Nelson + Pope (N+P) alongside their environmental affiliate Nelson Pope Voorhis (NPV) have promoted two leaders. John Perrotta, PE of N+P, and Brant Reiner of NPV have each been promoted to partner of their respective firm.

Perrotta, formerly a senior project manager with N+P and now partner has been with the firm for 12 years and has over 20 years of engineering expertise in civil, mechanical, electrical, and plumbing engineering for municipal and private projects.

Reiner formerly project manager/senior environmental scientist with NPV, now partner, has over 20 years of experience. His skillset spans from land use and environmental planning to high quality scientific and regulatory analysis. He has a thorough understanding of the municipal review and regulatory processes. His expertise includes all forms of coastal management, shoreline stabilization, wetland preservation and restoration, sustainable landscape projects, environmental analysis, land use, planning and feasibility assessment, SEQRA administration, permitting, municipal support, project review and presentation, and board representation. Reiner will manage the ecological and regulatory specialists of NPV.

“The firm’s leadership will be strengthened by each newly promoted partner and their diverse talents, depth of experience, and a passion for their industry. Their collective dedication and accomplishments have contributed to the firm’s success over the years”, said Carrie O’Farrell, AICP senior partner of NPV.

“We are proud to celebrate and recognize our new partners, not only have they achieved high levels of professional success, but they are also devoted to providing exceptional service and being a trusted advisor to our clients” said Eric McFerran, PE, senior partner of N+P.
