T&T Construction Management Group, Inc. announced its expansion, restructuring, and rebranding. The company has evolved to serve a large base of clients, ranging from those in the Northeastern United States to Florida and the Caribbean. Over the last quarter century, the organization has undergone tremendous growth. Based on these factors, the company is rebranding from T&T Construction of Central Fla. Inc. to T&T Construction Management Group Inc. The new name better represents the market and clients that T&T serves. Rebecca Thomas has assumed the role of CEO, and the company is now a woman-owned business.

"We are exceptionally proud of all our team has accomplished," said Thomas. "Our growth has been astounding, and we are excited to usher in a new era of success for our clients who turn to us for complex concrete solutions across various industries and territories."

The company remains committed to the core values that have driven growth since its inception. As a concrete specialty contractor, T&T takes pride in delivering reliably for each customer and market served through its hard work and innovative problem-solving approach. The team at T&T will continue to execute on the vision and goals of the company, building on a foundation of success and growth fed by safety, service, quality, and integrity.

T&T specializes in a mix of projects - including distribution centers and warehousing, entertainment, K-12 and higher ed, mixed-use, retail, and office space. T&T provides innovative commercial concrete solutions and best in class tilt up and flatwork.

"T&T is grateful to its clients, partners, and vendors who have entrusted us to perform on the projects we have executed, said Thomas. "We are excited to announce this change and for future success in the years and decades to come."

With this change, the domain name used for the website and all company email addresses will change from ttcfl.com to ttcon.com.
