Sugar Loaf, NY For almost three decades, Vision Hudson Valley (VHV) has selected an annual recipient who demonstrates an outstanding commitment to leadership and service in the Hudson Valley. Ruth and James Ottaway, philanthropists, and quality-of-life advocates for whom the award was named, introduced institutions and programs that continue to have an influence through VHV's efforts.

Honorees demonstrate a similarly prolific impact, and this year's recipient is well-deserving. Derrik Wynkoop will receive the honor at the Ottaway Medal dinner, to be held May 2nd, 2024, at The Barn at Villa Venezia.

Wynkoop is the president and CEO of Walden Savings Bank which celebrated its 150th anniversary in April 2022 as the 11th oldest mutual savings bank in the country. Walden Savings Bank is often recognized for their extensive involvement within the community, an example set under Wynkoop's leadership. He can be found supporting countless organizations and events throughout the community. His level of enthusiasm, engagement, and commitment to each of the causes he is involved with is truly representative of everything that Ruth and James Ottaway stood for.

He became a board member of the Orange County Partnership in 2016 and joined the Hudson Valley Patterns for Progress board of directors in 2020. Wynkoop is currently honorary co-chair for the fundraising campaign for the Food Bank of the Hudson Valley.

Wynkoop is also one of the founding Directors for the Wallkill Valley Health Center (now an affiliate of Sun River Health of Peekskill) and currently serves as vice president. He is also a founding member of the Walden Community Council.

"Vision Hudson Valley is beyond excited to award the 2024 Ottaway Medal to Derrik. Besides his extensive body of work within the community, we were most impressed that Derrik continues to have a close relationship with and is an active supporter of each and every organization that he has been involved with," said Kaitlynn Lancellotti, executive director. "We are very fortunate that Vision Hudson Valley will have the benefit of Derrik's passion for giving back for years to come."

Professionally Wynkoop has been appointed to a number of industry-related groups recognizing his expertise and leadership in his field. He currently serves as a member of the board of directors of the New York Bankers Association and in 2021 was appointed to the American Bankers Association's government relations council where he represents all banks in New York state on crafting national legislative banking priorities. He was also recently selected for board of directors for COCC, an industry leader providing banking technology solutions for over 600 banks and credit unions.
