What emerging trends will drive investment and development in 2024? Local Law 97's energy efficiency and sustainability mandates are driving the conversation. A well designed and installed, high R-value roof system can reduce your building's energy consumption. By keeping your HVACR systems idle for longer, we create time to budget for their costly replacement. Existing roofs with a well performing track record may be insulated from above with the option to create unique gathering spaces providing the option for additional revenue streams and compliance with DOB regulations.
