

A.J. Martini selected by Union College to build new 35,000 s/f center

November 21, 2008 - Upstate New York

Union College has chosen A.J. Martini to build a new Science and Engineering Center on the school's campus. Construction of the 35,000 s/f building will begin in the spring. The project will be completed during the 2010 - 2011 academic year. Union College will seek a LEED Gold Rating from the U.S. Green Building Council.

"The A.J. Martini team includes three Union College graduates," said Peter Martini, CEO of A.J. Martini. "We are thrilled to be back at our alma mater and lend our expertise in university construction."
