Best advice for new leaders: Without sales, a business can’t survive. So, if you want your business to grow, start with sales and marketing!

In the last 12 months what accomplishment are you most proud of? The most notable achievement in the last 12 months has been being selected by leading figures in the wellness industry, renowned hotel brands, and prominent architectural firms as their partners in thermal area developments. This accomplishment, unimaginable just 12 months ago, marks a huge milestone both for Perfect Wellness Group and my career.

In the last 12 months what was one of the biggest challenges you faced as a leader and how did you overcome it? Transitioning from a startup to a more structured company, with our team growing from 12 to nearly 30 members, has been a remarkable journey. Navigating the challenges of training and people management has been both daunting and fulfilling. My proudest achievement has been overcoming these hurdles by investing in experienced individuals who align with our vision and make it their own. It’s a testament to the belief that with a great team, anything is possible.
