Most memorable “15 minutes of fame” in NYREJ:

In addition to being recognized for my accomplishments as a woman professional in commercial real estate, my most memorable “15 minutes of fame” in NYREJ includes having several of my projects and articles published. Notably, our work for the Canadian furniture retailer EQ3 and the Dennis Yares Art Gallery was featured, highlighting our expertise in retail and gallery design.

These publications have provided invaluable visibility for my firm and have significantly enhanced our reputation within the industry. Being featured in NYREJ has been an honor and has helped us connect with a wider audience, reinforcing the value of our work in the commercial real estate sector.

Favorite NYREJ spotlights:

My favorite spotlights in NYREJ are Women in Construction, Women in CRE, Women in Building Services, and Women in Professional Services. Among these, “Women in Professional Services” is my favorite.

How has NYREJ helped you, your firm, or your industry?

What has impressed me the most about NYREJ is its unwavering commitment to showcasing the achievements of women in the industry through dedicated issues like Women in Construction, Women in CRE, Women in Building Services, and Women in Professional Services. I have been honored to be included in several of these issues alongside many accomplished women in commercial real estate.

NYREJ's dedication to highlighting the contributions of women has not only given me a platform to share my own experiences and successes but has also provided visibility to the many talented, accomplished women in our industry. This recognition is not only empowering but also instrumental in breaking down barriers and inspiring the next generation of female leaders in commercial real estate.

For my firm, being featured in NYREJ's special issues has significantly expanded our reach. It has allowed us to showcase our projects and accomplishments to a broader audience, thereby enhancing our reputation and opening up new opportunities for collaboration and growth. The exposure provided by NYREJ has been invaluable in helping us connect with potential clients, partners, and peers who share our commitment to excellence and innovation in commercial real estate.

NYREJ's role in promoting diversity and inclusion within the industry is commendable, and their efforts have had a tangible impact on the visibility and success of women-led firms like mine. I am grateful for their continued support and look forward to seeing even more groundbreaking achievements celebrated in future issues.
