

Callahan to oversee New City Shopping Center renovations

August 27, 2024 - Design / Build

Clarkstown, NY Callahan Construction Managers' (Callahan) New York office was selected to oversee a renovation of the New City Shopping Center in New City. When complete, the planned enhancements will provide shoppers with a 21st century shopping experience.

The shopping center has been serving the community since 1989. It is home to a range of stores, restaurants, and service providers, dedicated to meeting the needs of local residents and visitors alike. The grocery-anchored retail asset currently contains a complementary tenant mix with strong demographics, traffic counts, and access. The center looks to become the premier retail destination in the area when the project is complete.

Construction is expected to be completed in phases over the next six months to minimize disruptions to shoppers and businesses. The center will stay open throughout the renovation, and all businesses will continue to operate at their regular hours. The planned renovations will address all facets of redeveloping the plaza, from structural upgrades to aesthetic improvements, including new landscaping, updated lighting, and modernized storefronts. The anchor, Inserra Supermarket's New City Shoprite, will also undergo interior renovations, all of which aim to create a more welcoming and accessible environment for visitors.

“As our New York office continues to grow, we are proud to have the opportunity to oversee the significant improvements coming to the New City Shopping Center,” said David Morrow, vice president - New York, Callahan. “Callahan’s deep experience in both mixed-use and retail environments suit us well for this project, and our team in White Plains will work closely with the property development team to create a shopping experience like none other for Rockland County residents.”
