

IREM hosts second annual Asset & Property Management Symposium

April 14, 2009 - Owners Developers & Managers

The Greater New York Chapter of the Institute of Real Estate Management hosted their second annual Asset & Property Management Symposium on Wednesday, March 18 at the New York Helmsley Hotel. Twelve different seminars were conducted and the luncheon keynote address was delivered by John Cutter of Beau Dietl & Associates, an investigation firm in NYC. Attendees also had the opportunity to visit the exhibitor's showcase which was open throughout the day.

Sponsored by R.Y. Management Co., Inc. & Jones Lang LaSalle, the symposium was a true success, offering both education and networking opportunities in an informal environment that encouraged the exchange of information and ideas.

Plans are already underway for the organization's 2010 Symposium.Â and Gail Duke, CPM, New York Life Investment Management.
