

McKinnon, Jones and Grigg join Savillis Granite

November 19, 2007 - Financial Digest

Savills Granite LLC, a real estate investment banking company, has added Jennifer McKinnon, Marion Jones and Marcella Grigg to its professional team. McKinnon and Jones join the firm as senior associates, and Grigg joins Savills Granite as an associate.

"Jennifer McKinnon, Marion Jones and Marcella Grigg will make noteworthy contributions to Savills Granite's expansion program," said John Lyons, chief executive of Savills Granite. "Each of these talented and experienced individuals represents a valuable addition to our ranks, and each will help clients benefit from our company's new global reach."

McKinnon, who has six years of experience in the real estate industry, previously served as associate director in the financial consulting group at the Washington, D.C. office of CBRE. Earlier, she had worked with Jones Lang LaSalle as a financial analyst. She holds a bachelor's degree in economics and architecture from Wellesley College and studied architectural design at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Before joining Savills Granite, Jones was with CBRE's New York office for three years, where she was a senior associate in the sales investment division. She had previously worked in debt and equity placement with CBRE-Melody. Jones holds a bachelor's degree from Tulane University and a master's degree in architecture and a graduate certificate in real estate from the University of Pennsylvania.

Grigg served on CBRE's Investment Properties Institutional Group since 2005, where she was a business development analyst. She earned a bachelor's degree in marketing from Lehigh University.
